- (c) by limiting the participation in a particular procurement to those suppliers included on pre-approved supplier eligibility lists drawn up and maintained by the public body, in such manner as may be prescribed, so as to ensure that suppliers of specialised goods and services have and maintain the necessary technical and financial capability to provide them.

23. Departmental execution

In the case of works which are carried out with Government resources, procurement may be effected by the public body itself where one or more of the following conditions are present, namely where—

- (b) an activity is such that, if carried out by a contractor, it would impose an unacceptable risk on the contractor because the cost cannot be determined in advance;
- (c) the risk of unavoidable work interruptions is better borne by the public body than by a contractor;
- (d) it has been demonstrated that departmental execution is the only practical method for construction, maintenance and conservation works under special circumstances;
- (e) an activity for a pilot project of a particular nature for the development of a technology work method cannot be carried out by a contractor;

(b) Where the estimated value of the contract does not exceed the prescribed threshold, the shortlist may be drawn up on the basis of the public body's own knowledge and information.

[Amended 7/2020 (cio 7/8/2020).]

(ba) Notwithstanding paragraph (b), the fee may be exceptionally negotiated where the proposal of the only responsive consultant substantially exceeds the estimated cost and a re-bid exercise is not considered practical.

[Inserted 15/22 (cio 2/8/22).]

(c) Where the negotiations fail to result in an acceptable contract, the public body shall notify the consultant accordingly and proceed to the next ranked bidder, and so on.

(10) The consultant whose bid attains the highest score, in accordance with the criteria and selection method set forth in the request for proposals, or the one with the least cost in the case of the least cost method of selection, shall be selected for award, subject to satisfactory conclusion of negotiations.
